DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: the patent number De-19739719 appears to be in error.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. Claims 1-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.
2. Claim 1 recites the limitation "such that the metal structure extends from the first conductor layer toward the second surface of the dielectric layer" in method step (B). This limitation appears to define the subject matter in terms of the result to be achieved and is not clear.
3. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.
4. Claims 1, 9-12 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as based on a disclosure which is not enabling. The method without the steps of forming a hole unit in the dielectric layer and filling the hole unit with a metal structure, which appear critical or essential to the practice of the invention but not included in the claim(s) is not enabled by the disclosure.

See In re Mayhew, 527 F.2d 1229, 188 USPQ 356 (CCPA 1976). It is noted that claim 2 includes these steps.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

6. Claim 16 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Swiss patent document 681 758 (Schmidt et al) combined with German patent document 40 12 100 (Faller et al).

7. Schmidt et al discloses the method steps of providing a circuit board that includes a dielectric layer (1) having a first surface and a second surface opposite the first surface and a conductor layer (2) formed on the first surface of the dielectric layer; patterning one of the first and second surfaces of the dielectric layer (figure 2c-2e); forming a hole unit (6) in the dielectric layer (2) that extends from the patterned one of the first and second surfaces to the other of the first and second surfaces of the dielectric layer (figure 2f). The problem to be solved by the present invention may be regarded as the provision of a closed hole structure. Claim 16 differs from Schmidt et al in that a further step of disposing a cover member on the second surface of the dielectric layer is recited. Faller et al disclose a structure (1) containing channels (2) wherein a substrate (6) is glued on the structure (1) thereby covering the channels (2) and acting as a cover member which solves the problem. See the abstract; figures 1 and 4; column 3, lines 49-53.

8. The prior art of record is indicative of the level of one of ordinary skill in the art. It would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to have formed a cover member as taught by Faller et al on the structure of Schmidt et al because the hole would have been closed.

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The Whitehurst et al patent discloses a method of making an article which is useful in electronic devices such as a circuit board and which may contain microstructures such as an air bridge by etching multiple layers.
